AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Allen Walton, druggist at Centerville, hooked a huge fish up at Salmon Lake the other day, according to a story that his friends are telling. The size of the fish so excited Allen that he stood up in the canoe and upset it in 20 feet of water. He let out a yell and some people on shore heard him. They got a boat and rowed out to where Walton's craft was floating upside down. They caught sight of Walton's hat floating on the water, picked it up and found Walton under it, so they gave him a tow to shore. The fish went back to his family at the bottom of the lake and told how he had hooked a big one but it got away.

Everything seems to be booming up Irvington way. The Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce made $27.51 off its skating party, C. M. Christenson's new house is finished and he's spending his vacation fixing it up. Monday he told the folks at the bank that he was "driving mama into town to get this, that and the other." He'll probably be glad to get back to work on Monday.

The Belkles are all fixed for the hot weather with a new refrigerator and electric fan and Mrs. Belkle has taken to wearing anklet socks. Pa Belkle has taken to calling her Betty Co-ed in front of the customers but she says her shins are better looking than his anyhow.

Doc Pond thinks we are giving too much publicity to his skating activities. We are giving him notice that we will lay off if he will offer us a sufficient bribe. We can be bought cheap. A couple of bottles of Peruna, good for man and beast, would do the trick.

The Joe Belshaws, who are as genial a pair as can be found in Alvarado, recentl yobserved their seventh wedding anniversary. Result: Mrs. Belshaw is driving a fine new automobile.

No wonder tramps like Niles. When the train plowed into the load of watermelons last week, a freight passed by while the clean-up was under way. Bystanders heaved pieces of broken watermelon at the transients on board and all departed with smeary grins.

Raymond Peterson, jr., took his trusty BB gun and went hunting along Niles' Main street Monday morning. Peering up into one of the palms by the railroad station, he saw a huge nighthawk owl. Young Ray aimed carefully and his first shot knocked the bird off its perch. He says he's going to have it stuffed.

FREEMAN CAMPAIGNS IN TOWNSHIP AREA

Leslie J. Freeman of San Leandro this week opened his campaign on the republican ticket for assemblyman from the thirteenth district, and presented his platform. He pledged himself to the betterment of the farmer's condition.

"I am in favor of building a new highway through Altamont Pass as soon as the money is available, as this is the worst hazard that we have in our Northern California highway system," he says. He also believes that California bridges, with the exception of the bay bridge, should be exempt from toll.

Freeman also advocates a poll tax to be levied on non-citizens as a contribution toward the upkeep of public institutions, and maintains that chain stores, including gasoline service stations, should be made to pay the State Chain Store tax.

Leslie J. Freeman has been engaged in business as a druggist in San Leandro for some time.

Mrs. Dutra plans to make no change in the office at present, she says. She will keep Mrs. Charles Baird as assistant.

YOUNG COUPLE PLANS HOME IN SUNOL

The bride is the former Miss Mae Egan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Egan of Sunol. She is a graduate of Amador Valley Joint Union high school and a San Francisco music school. O'Loughlin is the son of Mrs. J. O'Loughlin of Sunol. Both are popular members of the younger set in this district.

U. C. PROFESSOR VISITS TOWNSHIP

On July 16, Dr. E. B. Babcock, professor of genetics at the University of California, accompanied by Mrs. Babcock, were the luncheon guests of Paul Daugherty, advisor of the local chapter of future farmers, and of Mrs. Daugherty.

During the afternoon, Dr. Babcock, as well as Dr. Gilbert Scott and E. P. Adams of the Associated Seed Growers Plant Breeding Station at Milpitas, visited a number of future farmer projects where work in the improvement of the varieties of local commercial crops is in progress. They also spent some time observing the many hybrid corns and market beans in the commercial plant garden on the Washington high school grounds.

Among the projects visited were the following: The excellent field of Golden Cross Bantam (a new type of Bantam showing remarkable uniformity and excellent quality) now in full production on the project of Anthony Silva; the early tomato project of Takeo Fudenna where three early varieties of tomatoes not previously grown in the township are just coming into full bearing, the Scarlet Dawn variety at this time looking somewhat better than John Baer or Clark's Early. These types excell the commonly grown Earliana in smoothness, color and size.

POSTMASTERS RETURN

Three township postmasters, Manuel Lewis of Centerville, Julio Ruschin of Newark and Mary Janeiro of Decoto attended the state meeting of postmasters in Sacramento last week. They report having a good time and learning a lot but they find Washington Township weather to be preferred to the awful heat at the state capital.

FEAST OF SAINT ANNE TO BE HELD

The feast of Saint Anne, patron saint of the Catholic church of Alvarado, will be observed next Sunday, July 26. High mass will be celebrated commencing at 9:30 a. m. Saint Anne, Mother of the Blessed Virgin, is honored throughout the Catholic world and each year many miracles are attributed to her intercession. Members of the Confraternity will receive Holy communion in a body at this high mass. Confessions will be heard at 3:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Following the usual custom, a fiesta in honor of Saint Anne will be carried out. Many valuable gifts and donations have already been given for the affair. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Frank Roderick, Mrs. Mary Rivers, A. E. Vargas, Frank Roderick and Frank Machado. The fiesta will be held immediately following the mass and will continue throughout the day at the Alvarado church.

NEWARK TAKES ANOTHER VICTORY

Newark won by a score of 6 to 5 last Sunday. A two run rally in the ninth gave Newark the win. Raso walked, Roderick sacrificed to put Raso on second. Ferry was hit by a pitched ball. Then good old srappy "Joe Dutra" doubled to left centerfield to win the ball game. Amaral for Newark allowed two hits in seven innings as Pretel was taken for wildness in the early part of the game.

The star hitters for Newark were Dutra and Lebon. Ed Rose hit the longest ball of the game when he made a triple. Ferry hit one for one which was the best average.

Charles Cockefair won the gate prize last Sunday.

The Newark Merchants may be entered in the Tribune tournament by Joe Pashote, manager, next Monday night. Pashote announces that anyone interested in baseball is to see him right away. Newark will have a return game with Oakland Spark Stoves here next Sunday.

Hockinson. Upwards of 200 guests attended in honor of Miss Whitney. Mrs. Hockinson and the Whitney family have been friends since their college days at the University of California.

Irvington Skate Party Tremendous Success

IRVINGTON — Results of last week's skating party brought considerable cheer to the Irvington Junior chamber of commerce which sponsored it. The affair netted the chamber slightly more than $21.

Tibo Bueno of Hayward and Genevieve Boyle of Oakland won first honors for skating. Evelyn Pond was the best girl skater, Gilbert Francis won first prize for men's skating.

Kenneth Ferry of Alviso was adjudged worst skater on the floor and Bob Wright, the thinnest skater. Bob Wright is the young man from Mission San Jose—not Irvington's R. J. Wright.

Junior chamber members are so pleased with the result of the party that they are planning a similar affair some time next minth.

Joe California, who was in charge of the party thanks all merchants who contributed prizes and the organization has sent a letter of thanks to Agnes Raymond for her services in selling the most tickets.

SURVEY MAY BE MADE OF SCHOOL TUBERCULOSIS

CENTERVILLE—Possibility of introducing a fluoroscopic survey at the Washington Union high school is being discussed by Principal A. J. Rathbone and E. B. Von Allmen, executive secretary of the Alameda County Tuberculosis and Health association. A recent visit from Von Allmen is expected to result in an examination of every student at the high school who so desires.

Alameda county rates high in the ratio of those affected with this trouble. The active program of prevention is thought to be responsible for this standing. If the survey is made at the local high school, the examinations will be made only at the volition of the students. Doctors trained in this particular phase of medical work will make the examinations.

LOCAL BOY RECEIVES C.M.T.C. APPOINTMENT

MONTEREY—Vernon F. Leal of Niles is one of the 200 outstanding trainees receiving an appointment from camp headquarters of the citizens' military training camp here, as non-commissioned officers of the C. M. T. C. regiment.

Those selected are chosen from the candidates undergoing their second, third and fourth summers of training. In the performance of their duties as non-commissioned officers, these trainees are given an excellent opportnity to develop qualities of leadership and self-reliance. Their initiative and ability will determine to a large extent whether or not they will be eligible for return to the C. M. T. camp in an advance course, and in the case of the Blues or fourth year candidates, will definitely determine their eligibility for recommendation in the officers' reserve corps in their respective branches of training.

The primary responsibility for instructing the basic or first year candidates is upon the non-commissioned officers who are supervised in their instruction by the officers of their respective organization.

DANGER IN "BACK TO LAND" MOVE

Thousands of Californians, leaving cities and seeking security for their families in the "back to the land" movement, are purchasing lands unfit for agriculture and hastening the very fate they hope to avert, that of landing on the relief rolls. "Recurrent and tragic effects" of this situation were indicated in a report today by Dr. Philip J. Webster, Land Use Planning Specialist, Resettlement Administration, to Jonathan Garst, Regional Director, Ninth Region, Resettlement Administration, following preliminary analysis of a "survey" carefully prepared with the cooperation of county, state, federal and private authorities.

The most complete study ever made of California rural maladjustment, the "reconnaissance survey" reveals, says Dr. Webster, that in some townships where the land is rated "poor and very poor" 95 per cent of new settlers are non-farm people from the cities, who have gone onto the land with dreams of sustaining themselves. "Casualties have been numerous," he states.

Mrs. Marguerite Crane and Mrs. Isabelle Cahill left last Saturday evening for Los Angeles where they will represent the De Guadalupe Institute at the Grand Institute. They are expected home next week.

FARM CENTER HEARS SPECIALISTS SPEAK ON DAIRY PROBLEMS

CENTERVLLE — The relative merits of dolichos lablab, pink and soy beans as cover crops, the present trend in feed prices and the menace to dairy herds from Bangs disease and yellow star thistle were among the subjects discussed Tuesday night at the meeting of Washington-Eden farm center in the high school.

For the most part, the meeting was for the benefit of dairy men. Dr. K. G. McKay, University of California veterinarian, who discussed methods of controlling herd diseases.

John Bower of the Golden State dairy spoke of feeds. He declared that the recent rise in feed prices apparently is permanent and ascribed it to a combination of causes. The increase in the amount of gold mined, the increase in money circulated through government credit, the present shortage of meals due to drouth and tariff walls and the fact that prices have been too low for profits in the past are all factors in the present gains, he maintained.

He advised feed users to watch markets carefully and buy promptly.

W. B. Kirk, assistant agricultural inspector, spoke of the present drive for control of weed pests. He warned that landowners who do not remove growths of yellow star thistle will have to pay the state for the cost of removal and he said that the charges will be placed as a lein against the land.

Paul Dougherty, secretary of the farm center and head of the agriculture work at the high school, spoke on the recent local experiments for suitable cover crops. He exhibited four heavy leafed crops which have been planted at the high school and declared that e believed those which produced the most bulk during their growth were the best for plowing under.

Following the talks on farm subjects, members of the center were served refreshments.

J. H. FURTADOS SUFFER HURTS

CENTERVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Furtado are recovering from minor injuries reecived in an accident at Ashland last week when their machine was allegedly struck and forced into a telegraph pole by Harry Osterdock of Alameda. Osterdock, who assertedly did not stop at the time of the accident returned to the scene after being acquainted of the seriousness of the damage by passing motorists. The car driven by Mr. Furtado was damaged beyond possibility of repair.

Mr. Furtado has recovered sufficiently to return to work, but Mrs. Furtado who was suffering from a burned wrist and arm previous to the accident is still incapacitated due to a sprain of the same wrist and arm.

FOURTH ANNUAL BASS DERBY TO BE AT RIO VISTA

California's thousands of fishermen will be delighted to hear that the fourth annual bass derby, taged by the Rio Vista chamber of commerce, is to start with a preliminary contest for 100 extra prizes. This contest is to open August 1. These prizes will be given in addition to the De Luxe outboard motor boat, motor and trailer valued at $600 and the 100 other prizes for the heaviest striper caught at Rio Vista on Derby Day, Sunday, September 27.

No qualifications are necessary to enter the Derby. Beginning August 1, any fisherman can enter the race by having his fish weighed in at one of the many official stations. Your favorite sporting goods store or bait shop will be among them.

The preliminary heats will close September 20 with the prizes awarded at Rio Vista, Saturday evening, September 26. Weight will be the deciding factor; the bigger the fish, the better the prize. In case of tie weights, the overall dimensions will decide the winners. Striped bass taken from any waters in California during the two months will be eligible.

Where the fish weighs more than 15 pounds it must be double checked at a second weighing station. All necessary data will be recorded at the official stations and forwarded to the judges.

This is a brand new idea in fish derbies and gives every angler a chance to cash in on his favorite pastime. The angler can enter as many fish as he likes.

It is not necessary to have weighed in a fish to compete in the main derby on Sunday, September 27. The only requirement is an angler's license and a fishing card from the derby committee. Headquarters will be open continuously fro mSeptember 17 until derby day so that fishing cards may be obtained in advance. There is no entrance fee whatever and if so desired, the fishing card can be obtained on the day of the derby.

The second alarm was turned in at 5 p. m. It turned out to be a small fire in a haystack in Valle Vista, just out of the Decoto district.

Man Eats a Ton

According to science, a healthy youth weighing 100 pounds, eats 20 times his own weight during the year. A ton a year is what the average man is said to consume. Think how appalling it would be to see one's year's allowance of bread and butter, steak and tomato catchup, potatoes and salad and rice pudding laid end to end!

A carefully restricted clientele, a policy that assures a character of patronage probably unequalled in any New York hotel...and it has enjoyed this distinction since 1886.

It is convenient to everything yet sufficiently remote from the roar of the city to insure almost country quietness.

CALIFORNIA News of the Week

Berkeley.—Research workers of the University of California have undertaken to demonstrate that tuna liver oil is richer in vitamins A and D than the proverbial cod.

Santa Cruz.—Three 70-foot hump back whales, each weighing about 70 tons, accompanied by a baby whale, made a visit to the bay here recently. The quartet moved out, spouting and playing, as many fishermen witnessed the show from a fishing barge anchored opposite Lighthouse Point.

Los Angeles.—Five marriages failed to calm the restless spirit of Mac C. Rodrick, according to his fifth wife, Louise Rodrick, who divorced him. "It's not your fault; I can stand only about three months at a time; I need a change," Mrs. Rodrick testified her husband had told her.

San Francisco.—Guards with machine guns and rifles stood watch here over 12,000 boxes of Shanghai dollars, valued at $24,000,000 in United States currency. Many of the boxes, which weigh 328 pounds each, were piled in an alley behind the San Francisco mint. The shipment arrived from China and overtaxed the mint storage space. Financial circles here said it was understood the Shanghai silver covers a loan made by the United States to the Chinese government.

Los Angeles.—Subdividers of more than 50 oil and gas land projects in California, Arizona and New Mexico must show cause to the State division of real estate why their sales should not be stopped. Citations were reported to have been issued to give the operators an opportunity to establish whether there is adequate title to the land, reasonable possibility of obtaining oil and gas in commercial quantities, and other data.

Watsonville.—State health officials have began a wholesale salughter of ground squirrels and rodents in the Mount Madonna region, where more than 6000 acres of farm and grazing land were ordered closed to the public following discovering of bubonic plague among the animals. Authorities posted warnings to all persons to stay away from the area pending extermination of animals believed carrying the dread disease.

San Francisco.—Value of the life of a man who was lynched has been fixed at $20,000. Mrs. Evelyn Holmes, widow of John N. Holmes, who was lynched at San Jose in 1933, filed a $20,000 damage suit on behalf of her two children, David, 7, and Joyce, 6. Defendants were named as former Sheriff William Emig of San Jose, former Deputies E. H. Lowell and Joseph Walsh; and former Sheriff William Fitzgerald of San Francisco, and Police Chief William Quinn of San Francisco. The suit charges them with failure to protect Holmes' life.

Sacramento.—Hopes of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda counties for a definite and long-term State relief program apparently are near materialization. Following a conference with Harold Pomeroy, new chairman of the State Relief Commission, Controller Leonard S. Leavy of San Francisco, announced the way had been cleared for a series of meetings to formulate a relief program extending up to July 1, 1939. At a relief meeting here recently, Governor Merriam agreed to ask the legislature not only to provide direct relief moneys this fiscal year if needed, but to appropriate sufficient funds to carry the relief load in the 1937-1939 biennium.

San Francisco.—The State Industrial Accident Commission has full jurisdiction in the matter of compensation for workmen injured on Federal property, Tim Reardon, director, recently announced. This added power was given the commission when President Roosevelt signed a bill clarifying rights of State compensation groups, he said. Heretofore, when workmen have been injured on construction jobs on Federal property, the contention has been raised that no payment could be made the workmen from State compensation funds. The bill, introduced by Representative Richard Welch and supported by Representative Kahn and Senator Johnson, has a bearing upon injury claims arising out of the Golden Gate bridge construction, Reardon said.

Sacramento.—Californians receiving old age aid from the State should be granted the difference between their net income and $35 a month, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled recently. The opinion was given to Social Welfare Director Florence M. Turner to provide proper procedure for county welfare agencies to follow. In some instances in the past the gross income of pension applicants was taken into consideration and if greater than $35 a month, no aid was given.

Pinafore for Little Girl

The clever cutting of this useful pinafore is shown in the small diagram beside the little girl. You will see at once that this frock requires no seaming and of course the feature which so greatly intrigues children is the butterfly which forms the pocket.

Pattern No. 1910-B

Notice how simple it is to put on, merely slipped over the head and tied at each side. Mothers find it a great help because it can be used as an apron over a frock, which must be kept clean, or worn instead of a frock. The panties to match are an asset—they have the comfortable French yoke top and stay snug but never bind. This attractive design made in cotton, percale, gingham, calico, or lawn would be effective with contrasting binding and colorful embroidery on the butterfly pocket.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1910-B is available for sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8. Size 6 requires 1 1-2 yards of 35 inch material plus 7-8 yard for the panties. Send fifteen cents in coins.

Send for the Summer Pattern Book containing 100 Barbara Bell well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send fifteen cents for your copy.

OF COURSE, children should never drink coffee. And many grown-ups, too, find that the caffein in coffee disagrees with them. If you are bothered by headaches or indigestion or can't sleep soundly...try Postum for 30 days. Postum contains no caffein. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. Try Postum. You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days you'll love Postum for its own rich, satisfying flavor. It is easy to make, delicious, economical, and may prove a real help. Following is an unusual and delicious pie for the summer months which has been suggested by Mrs. Frank P. George who finds that it is very popular with her family. This pie can be made the day before and set in the ice box at cool temperature and it will be ready to serve the next day after whipped cream and chocolate has been spread over the top.

Peel three cupfuls of small white onions. Temperature Isn't All

The weather bureau says that, other things being equal, a temperature of minus 50 degrees would surely feel colder than minus 10 degrees, but one's feelings depend upon many other factors in addition to the temperature—such as state of health, kind of clothing, wind velocity, etc.—and, perhaps above all, upon what one is accustomed to, Mere cold alone is easily endured, but when there is a wind extremely low temperatures are very trying. However, in regions where exceedingly low temperatures are the rule the inhabitants become accustomed to this condition and are prepared for it; they clothe themselves and carry on their daily activities accordingly. The extreme cold causes no more inconvenience or discomfort than zero temperatures do in the South.

"Son" of Shakespeare

Sir William Davenant was baptized at Oxford in 1606, and his paternity was scandalously attributed to William Shakespeare. Davenant himself did nothing to discourage the legend and let it help him acquire a considerable reputation as an actor in Shakespearean roles. He was the first to present Romeo and Juliet with a woman in the cast. This original Juliet was Mary Saunderson, afterward Mrs. Thomas Beterton. In Shakespeare's own time, boy actors played all feminine roles.

Davenant introduced the word opera into the English language. He used it to designate Shakespearean and other spoken dramas, as plays and theaters had fallen in disfavor during the Puritan rule of Cromwell.

Celebrates Spring

Eisenbach, Germany, famed to visitors of Wartburg castle, where Luther retired under the psuedonym of "Junker Georg" to translate the Bible into German, celebrates the coming of spring with a vengeance. After welcoming the new season with a procession, the citizens end their fete by burning an effigy of winter.

The Farmer's Corner...

BY RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

"For every ailment, my friends, there's a remedy! But in this little bottle, for the ridiculous price of $1, there a cure for every malady which affects you . . . In this bottle, you will find new life, new health, new happiness! In this bottle, ..."

With superb showmanship, plus a casual knowledge of "sick man's psychology," the old-time patent medicine man hawked his wares.

He found his victims on every street corner—and usually sold them, for ailing humanity is invariably credulous, invariably seeking a short-cut to new health and new vitality.

The patent medicine man has gone, but "cure-alls" still abound.

Today, as an aftermath of economic distress, oppressive taxation and public uncertainty, there are "cure-alls" to the right and "cure-alls" to the left—"Single Tax," "Sales Tax Repeal," "Utopia," "Share the Wealth," and a hundred and one others. Some are well-intentioned, honestly offered, but ill-considered and poorly founded; others lack even an honest origin.

And California taxpayers, regardless of the fact that their tax bills are often excessive and burdensome, must subject proffered "cure-alls" to the most careful scrutiny—recognizing that "the cure may be worse than the disease" and that no magic pill can banish tax disorders which have developed over a long period of years.

* * *

The two-in-one Sales Tax Repeal-"Single Tax" Act, which appears on the November ballot, undoubtedly takes front rank as the most dangerous panacea to be submitted to California voters this year—particularly from the standpoint of the farmer, the home-owner, or any common property taxpayer.

Stripped of its camouflage, this proposal is the old and discredited "Single Tax" Act—seven times defeated in California by overwhelming majorities—designed to destroy the private ownership of land and common property generally by the simple expedient of tax confiscation.

Masquerading as a sales tax repeal act in an attempt to trap the unwary voter, this act would abolish outright all forms of sales tax, liquor taxes and probably the truck and gas tax—TRANSFERRING THE ENTIRE BURDEN TO LAND. In addition, it would reduce personal property taxes and taxes on improvements one-fifth each year until entirely aboloshed —AGAIN PLACING THE BURDEN ON LAND.

During the first year, it is estimated by the state's fiscal outhorities that the "Single Tax" proposal would add a minimum of $305,234,574 to taxes levied on California lands—with an average tax rate in the State of $11.25 per hundred dollars. By the second year, it is conservatively computed, the tax rate would soar to $32.50, and the third year to $80.50—rates which are plainly confiscatory and designed to bring about state ownership of all property.

The voter who migh be tempted by sales tax repeal should remember, when he goes to the polls, that this is a clear-cut instance where "the cure is worse than the disease."

Whether the "cure-all" be The One-House Legislature, the "Share the Wealth" plan, or any of the others which have achieved brief popularity, California voters should recognize the simple truth that there is no easy road to tax reform, or economic readjustment. "Tax repeal" proposals are not actually tax repeals at all; they merely provide for the substitution of one tax for another. To reduce taxes, there must be reduction in cost of government. And such reductions will come only as a result of intelligent citizenship, careful planning and budgeting, determined effort to eliminate nonessential services, and a public demand that government, like the individual, live within its income.

(Next, concluding article: "HOW CAN I REDUCE MY TAX BILLS")

Some politicians are so used to being bought off that when they go to shake hands they stick their hand behind them

ALICE B. DIAS DIES JULY 17

CENTERVILLE—Alice B. Dias, widow of the late Joseph Dias, veteran principal of the Centerville grammar school, died Thursday, July 17, at a private sanitarium in San Jose after a long illness.

Mrs. Dias was a native of California and was 66 years of age. She was a resident of Centerville for many years previous to the family's removal to San Jose about twenty years ago, and was prominently active in the affairs of the community.

Mrs. Dias was a member of the teaching profession and, while not actively engaged in the work, gave much of her time and interest to the school work of her husband and son.

The sudden death of Mr. Dias in San Francisco on December 26, 1934, resuled in the aggravation of an illness which led to her invalidcy and death.

One son, Paul J. Dias, principal of the Alviso school and Attorney at Law in San Jose, and a grandson, James Joseph, survive, death having taken two sons, Tom and Joseph, and a daughter, Alyce, several years ago.

The funeral took place on Saturday from St. Patrick's church, San Jose, to St. Joseph's cemetery.

Home of Seabirds

Venice has been called the "Queen of the Adriatic" and the "Serene Seaport," but its oldest name was the "Sea-Birds' Home." Long before the Huns swept down on Italy there was a small population, the aboriginal Venetians, occupying the estuary, of whom Cassiodorus, secretary of Theodoric the Great, has left us a picture. The Huns drove refugees from Padua, Aquileia and other mainland cities to the lagoons to found a republic among the sea birds.

Insurance Odds

In the early days of insurance, in England, as soon as it was known that any great man was seriously ill insurances on his life, at rates in proportion to his chance of recovery, were freely made by the general public. They would be reported in the press and the great man would have the pleasure of reading the quotations on his chances of recovery.

Famous Immigrant Island Has Had Varied History

Ellis Island, lying in upper New York bay, is about a mile southwest of the Battery. Its present area is about 21 acres, although its extent was but 3.3 acres when several centuries ago the Dutch rowed over there to dine on oysters. Two islands have been built to the southwest of the original one, and tied to it by cause-ways. In 1915 and 1920, "made" land was added. Foreign ships were permitted to dump their ballast there, so that much of the "made" ground is foreign soil.

The early name of the island was Kiosk island, or Gull island. Seventeenth century court records of New Amsterdam refer to it as Oyster island, by which name it was generally known until the latter part of the Eighteenth century, when a Manhattan butcher named Samuel Ellis purchased the island. A statute enacted in 1807 in reference to the fortifications in New York bay refers to Ellis island by its present name.

In 1808 the government purchased the island from the state of New York, and for many years it was used as a powder magazine. It was not converted into an immigration station until 1891, when the government began erecting wooden structures on it for that purpose. On June 15, 1897, these buildings were destroyed by fire. The present more substantial and elaborate structures were completed in 1900. They now number 27, and include power houses, a hospital, a dormitory with 3,000 beds, a dining room for 2,000 people and offices of the immigration commissioner. Here aliens are detained in connection with the immigration laws until they are deported or permitted to land.

Succotash Is Hailed as Oldest Native Dish

The serving of the traditional succotash dish at the annual banquet in Plymouth, Mass., to commemorate the three hundred and fifteenth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims calls attention to the American Indian's contributions to the national cooking, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Succotash is credited with being the nation's oldest native dish. As such it leads a long list of foods and methods of cooking that have been incorporated into the American cuisine as a heritage from the Indian. Succotash is thus to be regarded along with hominy, pone, sagamity and suppawn as a typical native dish.

Because these foods were unknown to the white man before he came to the New world it is natural that the Indian way of preparation should likewise have been adopted and in many cases adhered to to this day. The entire technic of making maple sugar has been acquired from the red man, as well as his methods of baking clams and of preparing fish by planking it. Pemmican and jerked beef were first used by the Indian and widely employed by the first settlers on all frontiers. In Minnesota wild rice was and still is used in such quantity as to make it a staple.

It's amazing, the number of fellows with checkered careers who are believed to be on the square.

Early Style of Hunting

One favorite custom of hunting during the pioneer days, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, was for some 600 or 700 men, armed with clubs, to encircle a large section—say about two townships—and at a signal start moving slowly toward the center. As the men were close together, hardly any ground animal could escape through the line to freedom. Those that attempted to get outside of the circle were killed on the spot. Those driven into the center were killed there. Frequently in this manner practically all the ground game in the entire section was wiped out.

WHY A GOLD STANDARD?

Governor Landon's telegram to the convention at Cleveland after his nomination declaring for return to the gold standard, has met applause from financial writers throughout the country.

The question arises, Why a monetary standard?

Money is a measure of value as the yardstick is a measure of dimension, the pound a measure of weight. To change the measure is to cause confusion, with loss to many and perhaps gain to others.

If a merchant contracts to sell 1000 yards of cloth at some future date at a stated price, and the yard is changed by law to six feet, he must deliver twice as much cloth. If meanwhile the standard of money has been cut in two, the merchant is doubly penalized. Many such illustrations will suggest themselves.

And so, if a man saves and lends $1000, he wants to know he is going to get back the same kind of money that he lent.

President Roosevelt changed the value of gold from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce. He seized all gold owned by citizens, paying them in paper dollars at $20.67 an ounce—not at $35, the new price of gold.

The United States government issued its bonds with a covenant promising faithfully to repay the lender in gold dollars of equal weight and fineness. The president repudiated this covenant and provided for repayment in depreciated currency.

Why a gold standard? Experience has proved gold to be the most stable in value of any commodity, over long periods of years. Many nations have used silver, but the value of silver fluctuates widely. Attempts to tie the two metals in a double standard—the so-called "bi-metalism" of the politicians of other years—have failed always. When one metal becomes more valuable it disappears from circulation and is hoarded. The cheaper metal becomes the standard. This is the so-called "Gresham's law," and it is about as certain as the law of gravitation.

The greatest prosperity in the United States has always accompanied periods of monetary stability. After the six years of depression from 1873 to 1879 the nation returned to the gold standard. Immediate prosperity followed.

And so the economists say, Fix the standard on gold, put gold back in circulation, make a paper dollar interchangeable for a dollar in gold, let debts and bonds be payable in gold—and then watch business hum.

MORE ROADS IN OFFING

Some day there will be a still newer, more direct route from Oakland to San Jose than the highway now being constructed along Vallejo street in Niles. The route as tentatively outlined will strike Washington Township at the outskirts of Alvarado. There, the engineers would like to connect it with the Creek road by running it through the Holly Sugar mill property. Such a development would bring it directly into Niles. If right-of-way can not be obtained from the Holly people, the route will probably be through Centerville. In either case, the road will bring more people into the township and should be striven for.

* * * *

ROOSEVELT AND SOCIALISM

Whether we like it or not, the tide of sicialism is sweeping across the world. It is doubtful if it will be stopped, even in the United States, more than temporarily.

For the past 50 years, it has been gaining headway in this country. Free public schools were a socialistic step. The first Roosevelt's trust busting was a socialist step. Even such things as the federal reserve act have their socialistic aspect. Herbert Hoover, popularly known as an arch conservative, sponsored the RFC, a highly socialistic creation.

Since 1932, Roosevelt II has plunged the nation's government frankly, and many times recklessly, into socialistic experiment. The WPA, AAA, CCC and NRA—all the attempts at government control of private enterprise, at bottom are socialistic.

It is possible that in a future socialist United States citizens of that time will give Roosevelt a high historical place as the father of American socialism. Possible, but not probable.

For Roosevelt's great weakness is not his desire for an attempt at social reform.

His weakness lies in his inability to keep his experiments to a scale that the nation can afford.

No individual or system of government can consistently spend more than it takes in and get away with it.

Even Communists realize they have to balance their budget.

Budgets cannot be balanced with talk. High ideals are of little value when unleavened with common sense.

LODGE DOING GOOD JOB

The S. E. S. lodge is making great plans for its annual Holy Ghost fiesta at Niles and the affair should be one of the biggest of its type in the bay district.

Because it comes near the end of the season, after most of the other communities have held their fiestas, the parade and ritual will be more elaborate. There will be more queens, more drill teams, more bands. Everybody will have a good time. Henry Rego, Frank Mellow and their fellow committeemen are to be complimented on the earnestness with which they are striving to make Niles' only 1936 celebration interesting to visitors.

* * * *

The current issue of the Farm Bureau Monthly contains an article by James A. Armstrong which declares that poorly attended farm bureau meetings are due in part to the fact that insufficient advance notice is given to the members.

It seems a good occasion to point out that most community newspapers are eager to present farm organization news to their readers and that if bureau officials will acquaint themselves of the press deadlines of these papers and see to it that they receive the advance notices of such meetings in time, there will be no stint of publicity.

* * * *

Washington Township's greatest needs are two: better transportation to the cities and more payroll industries.

The new highways now planned and in the making will solve the first need. The second depends directly on national economic conditions. Few new factories are being built anywhere in the United States. Those who have the money to build are not going to spend it until they are sure they will not be taxed out of business by the government.

* * * *

Now is not too soon to start thinking of the wild flower festival at Niles for next year.

It is a great shame that one was not held this year.

People in the bay district who know next to nothing of Niles will perk up when the town is mentioned and say "Oh yes, that's where they have the wild flower show."

The show is unique in this district and it should not be allowed to die out.

CALIFORNIA

There's a land across the Rockies,
Far from Eastern smoke and grime;
Where the mountains touch the sea-shore,
And the air is spiced with wine.

It's the land of fertile orchards,
Towering hills, and mountains high;
And of little glades and canyons—
Where the streams go trinkling by.

It's the land where garden lovers,
May rejoice in growing things;
Where each season is so pleasant—
Peace and comfort, each day brings.

It's the land of winter picnics,
And of summers fresh and cool;
And of laughing skies and children,
Playing in a swimming pool.

It's the land of lovely evenings,
With a pungent, scented breeze;
And of night-birds calling softly,
From the palms and orange trees.

It's the land of gold and romance,
Where you want to sit and dream;
Or go rolling down a high-way—
Or fish in a trout-filled stream.

It's the land of golden poppies,
Orange, prune and apricot;
Miles of valley fields and ranches—
The flower should be, "forget-me-not."

It's the land of open spaces,
Where we scan the glimmering bay;
From a hill-top over yonder,
With cities dotted along the way.

It's the land of quaint old Missions,
Desert sands, and white sea foam;
Snow-clad mountains, giant Redwoods,
(How I thrill to call you, "home")

You have soothed me, you have taught me,
And you've lulled my soul to rest;
For there's joy in the game of living—
So close to your throbbing breast.

Oh, California, gentle Mother—
With your golden sunshine bright—
With your stars and sky so brilliant,
Come— and tuck me in tonight!

The current issue of the Woman's Home Companion carries an advertisement for Wesson oil which depends for its interest on the fact that Herbert Hoover's chubby face bears a faint resemblance to a beet.

The picture in the ad shows a presidential figure, with a beet instead of a head, addressing a crowd of fellow beets from the platform of an observation car. Hoover's features are drawn on the speech-making beet. The speech, parodying current political phraseology, urges the merits of the product advertised.

The setup is clever in a way but smacks pretty much of bad taste.

The people who run Reilly's Free Press probably will be scandalized at the idea, but it seems to us that there is a strong similarity between their sheet and the Hearst papers.

Hearst editorials exercise very little direct influence on Hearst readers for the reason that for 40 years, Hearst papers have been constantly shreiking exposures of crookedness, graft, the red menace, the yellow peril and the like.

People for the most part have come to distrust those who constantly go about calling everybody else names. They read such papers almost purely for their entertainment value, not for guidance.

The latest issue of Time magazine carries a lengthy article about a Mrs. Simpson, American born woman, who, it seems, is King Edward VIII's particular girl friend.

It seems that the king has been escorting Mrs. Simpson about for some years now, that he is apparently very fond of her and that there is a Mr. Simpson, whom the lady has acquired since she and Edward became so thick. The curious thing about it all is that Time, usually so explicit, presents the story as if everyone already knew all about it and leaves altogether too much to the imagination.

The table d'hote dinner is an established institution in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The usual price is 50 cents, although there are plenty of dinners available at 75 cents and $1. Tea rooms with "home cooking" are most favored. The standard meal consists of fruit cup, soup, salad, choice of entrees, dessert and drink. Some tea rooms feature desserts, with 10 to 15 to choose from. In Los Angeles the tea rooms are mostly in residential districts; in San Francisco they are everywhere.

Both cities offer a wide variety of exotic foods served by representatives of many nations. Chop suey and chow mein formerly were exclusively Chinese. Now the apanese have invaded the field and the imitation is allee samee the original. Spanish and Mexican restaurants are noted for the caloric content of their fare. The foods essay a high percentage of chili pepper. In Los Angeles a man was noted entering a Spanish restaurant and carrying a portable fire extinguisher. Coincidence? Perhaps. In California Italian dinners are as numerous as American fare. They follow a set menu, with plenty of sound soup, tasty salad with wine, vinegar dressing, pickled peppers, plenty of spaghetti or raviola, choice of meats, dessert and black coffee. And red wine on the side. French dinners are much like the Italian, pay a little more attention to the salad and take longer to serve.

Hollywood is the center of Russian dinners in the south, and in San Francisco it is Sutter street. Borsch soups and other authenticated Russian dishes are served. Often there is entertainment with genuine Russian performers—white Russians who escaped the red revolution.

Hungarian meals are heavy with goulashes and rich pastries—the restaurants usually run by Jewish Hungarians. Armenian and Turkish dinners are featured by "ish ka bub"—bits of lamb broiled on an iron skewer—likewist by meats cooked in rolled up grape leaves. Boiled wheat takes the place of bread. Turkish pastries include many layers of thin wafers made of very short piecrust.

We almost forgot the English tea rooms—prim and proper and sad—with their crumpets and muffins, roast beef with Yorkshire pudding—and tea.

Linguica sausage is Portugal's contribution to the American cuisine of Washington Township. And we like it.

In Los Angeles tens of thousands of cars are bedded down in the streets at night. Ordinance prohibiting parking between 2 and 4 a. m. are ignored. In residential and apartment districts the curb is lined by cars all night long. Garage space, public and private, is insufficient to take care of all the cars. Many car owners would not rent a garage if space were available, preferring to spend the money for gasoline. Thefts of gasoline from parked cars are common. Los Angeles has over 500,000 registered cars and trucks of its own. And there are always thousands present from other states.

Nowadays in the city it is electric refrigeration that marks the break in rentals of apartments and flats between what is inexpensive and what costs more, between what can be endured and what is desirable. Most vacancies are in buildings that lack electric refrigerators. In many apartments the landlord pays for electric current and gas. In flats the tenant assumes all utility charges. In a few years more, air conditioning will be added to tenants' exactions and landlords' woes. Flat buildings generally have a common entrance hall and stairway. Tenants are expected to divide the work of keeping the entrance and stairway swept. Often one or two shirk the duty, which gets on the nerves of the good housekeepers. Sometimes the result is quarrels—or else the good housekeepers meekly assume the part of the job which should fall to the lilies who toil not.

The continued craze for bicycle riding is a bane to city motorists and hazard to boys who dart in and out of traffic. The crazy gyrations of riders often keep motor drivers' hearts jumping. Fatal accidents are not uncommon. The bicycle riders have equal rights to the streets, and even a damaged wheel may result in a claim for damages plus the annoyance of a court summons and possible cost of defending a suit. Best protection is ample insurance.

Traffic ordinances require an automobile driver to wait for the second bell and green lights before starting at an intersection where automatic signals are employed. Generally the driver starts edging up at the sound of the first bell. This is most offensive to veteran traffic officers, and many an unlucky driver draws a ticket for this most minor of offenses.

Taking No Chances

Farmer Thomas gave a new hand a plateful of mushrooms for his supper.

"Isn't anyone else having mushrooms for supper?" asked the hand, notincing that he was the only one eating them.

"We like them for breakfast best," said the farmer.

Next morning Thomas went to his new hand's room and asked him how he felt.

"Fine," said the hand.

Returning to the kitchen, and putting his head round the door, he shouted to his wife: "It's all right, Jane, they're not toadstools!"

A Human Zero

"How's that widower you married turning out as a husband?" the former widow was asked.

"A pain in the neck," she sighed, "the poor fish was so cowed by his first wife there even isn't any pleasure fussing with him."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Easy to Knit and Easy to Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT IS a foregone conclusion among women of varied activities that knitted clothes are the logical sort to wear at play or at work. This conviction in regard to the practical wearability of things knitted has come about from actual experience, and not from mere theory. And so the clicking of needles goes merrily on.

There is added inspiration, too, in the knowledge that knit or crochet yarns have been brought to such high state of perfection through modern processing that one is cheered with the assurance of dependable washability both as to shrinkage and to color fastness. Thus a new confidence has been created in the minds of the practical minded to the extent that knitted apparel has come to be recognized as staple wear rather than in the category of fleeting moods or fads.

As to the knitted items pictured they are new and they are practical, just such as you will appreciate wearing during week-end and vacation hours. The suntan halter as shown in the upper left of the group will give you all the exposure and freedom you need in beach and summer sports clothes. You can combine it with knitted bathing trunks or gabardine shorts or the popular culotte costume, or wear it with a linen skirt.

Out in the garden on a warm summer day with gay flowers about and skies that are blue it will be the frivolous dainty type of a blouse you will be wanting to fit in with the joyous landscape. Centered in the picture is a pretty blouse that is so simple and easy to crochet you can make it in a jiffy. It is cool because it is lacy. Choose yellow for the color of the mercerized crochet cotton so that it will match the sunshine of a perfect summer day. This cunning model has practically no sleeves and is held together by a drawstring about the neckline in peasant fashion.

To the left below a sheer blouse is shown knitted of mercerized crochet cotton. It is the sort that will add the feminine touch to your mannishly tailored suit or will carry through smartly with your summer linen skirts. The rows and rows of tiny ruffles at each side above the waistline are something new. You will like this styling immensely and so will your friends for it is out of the ordinary. The sleeves puffed just above the elbow are also a smart and very new feature. The neck is high, giving that close-to-the-throat line which fashion decrees this season. This high neck effect fills the opening of a classic lapeled suit jacket to perfect satisfaction.

Cool and lovely in its dainty coloring is the dress pictured to the right. The majority of dresses are knitted but this one is crocheted of soft washable knit-cro-sheen. The work goes rapidly as the stitch is a very open lacy one. A dress of this type should go into every trunk that is vacation bound, for it packs, washes and wears beautifully. The soft rolled collar and the cord and tassel fastenings are style details that give "class" that is recognized at a glance.

Of course you have taken note of the crownless garden hats which the girls in the sweaters are wearing. You can make one yourself and at trifling cost—just one of those big farmer straw hats with the crown cut out and the brim slashed up the back, rounding the corners. Finish all edges with a wide bias-cut binding of gay gingham and add ties of the same.

STAR-PRINT CREPE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Attractively studded with the symbol of the Lone Star state, this star print crepe cocktail dress is a special design in honor of the Centennial now being held there. The closely positioned buttons, the tunic silhouette, the fanciful slit hemline, the widened puffed shoulders and the turnover collar effect are all contributing style details. Free-flowing, allowing ease of movement, this smart-looking dress is ideal for semi-formal afternoon or early evening wear.

WOMEN ADD COLOR; DON GAY GALLUSES

Not satisfied with copying men's suits, both as to material and styling, the women are now wearing suspenders. They have discovered that galluses not only furnish an added chance to introduce color and swank to the accessory theme, but these dashing skirt "holder-uppers" are exceedingly practical. In the narrow width sizes, chosen to form a daring contrast with the suit and blouse, suspenders present a smart appearance as they flash out from behind an unbuttoned jacket.

The whole idea, designers claim, is not just another fashion whim but springs directly out of style requirements set by the present trends in women's apparel; mannish suits, hence suspenders! Clipping onto the skirt, suspenders hold this garment in line properly, preventing it from acquiring that ungainly "sat-in" look.

Swim Suits Are Dark and Snug-Fitting This Season

Wine-and-white is the prize color combination for swim suits this season.

Navy-and-white comes next, and then black, in lustrous suits of elastic satin.

Most of the newest suits have a dressmaker look. They are closely fitted, complete with uplift brassiere top, halter necks and sunbacks.

The great-open-spaces fad, which left the tummy bare to the sun's rays, is doing a graceful fadeout.

Negligee Ensemble

In making a silk nightgown, buy enough silk to include a little bed jacket to match it. This can be elbow or waist length and slip on over the nightgown for breakfasts in bed.

LAST CALL FOR RECRUITS TO CCC

The Civilian Conservation Corps announces the extension of the present enrollment period from July 15 to July 31. There are still a few openings left in Alameda county.

This additional time is granted to allow young men this last chance to take advantage of the new opportunities now existing in the corps.

Single youths between the ages of 17 and 28 inclusive, and from families on any kind of public relief including W. P. A. are eligible.

Besides the $30.00 per month, $25.00 of which is forwarded by the finance division directly to the distressed family, the youth receives a spending allowance of $5.00 per month, an abundance of good food, appropriate clothing and a comfortable place to live.

The fellow that stays on the level never has to worry about making the grade.

Doing One's Own Thinking

There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or for worse as his portion, that though the wide universe if full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given to him to till.

Cause of Civil War

The issue of slavery was the direct cause of the Civil war. The question of states' rights or the right of a state to secede from the federation was the fundamental cause. This had been a vexed question from the beginnings of the government, until it was brought to a head by the slavery issue.

Whaler Reached 72 S. Latitude

According to records in Sydney, an Australian whaling vessel, the Venus, ventured beyond 72 degrees south latitude in the South polar region of the Ross sea nine years before Explorer James Ross made his famous voyage between 1840 and 1850.

Gold Crested Wren

Weighing only about an ounce, the gold crested wren is capable of migrating across the North sea in a single night. An insectiverous bird, it is found in northern Europe and Asia and is one of the most beautiful of the small birds.

Vast Pacific Lands

The various sectors of the Asiatic side of the Pacific basin contain an area of 7,500,000 square miles; those of the American side nearly 3,000,000 square miles—altogether 10,000,000 square miles of ocean, over one-fifth of the land surface of the entire earth.

Above Absolute Zero

It is considered impossible for man to produce a temperature of absolute zero, which is minus 273.16 degrees on the Centigrade scale; but experiments have attained cold within a tiny fraction of one degree of the goal.

Socrates Great in Politics

The famed Greek philosopher, Socrates, was as great in politics as he was in the fields of morals and philosophy; unfortunately, he did not leave any written records of his thoughts on this subject.

First State Roads

The congressional enabling act of 1816 accepting Indiana as a state paved the way for establishment of the first state roads. One provision of the act said that 5 per cent of the net proceeds of the sale of lands within the state by congress should be reserved for the building of public roads and canals, although the state was to receive only three-fifths of the amount, with the rest to be used in building roads from the eastern seaboard to the new state. This "3 per cent fund" netted the state $575,547.75 from 1821 to 1867—truly a negligible sum as compared with highway expenditures of later times.

Early Use of Ether

Ether, the volatile liquid produced by the interaction of alcohol and sulphuric acid, was first prepared by an alchemist, Valerius Cordus, in 1540. The awakening interest in organic chemistry in the early Nineteenth century focused the attention of a number of investigators upon it, and the observation was made that it possessed a more violent intoxicating effect than alcohol.

Worth-While Things

There are so many worth-while things to talk about, if only we would turn out attention to them. Books, for instance. What fruitful time friends can have talking over the books that they have been reading. Music and art make good topics of conversation. If each of us would resolve to lift his talk a little, the level of gossip would rise and everybody would be better off.

Early Animal Breeding

Robert Bakewell of England first introduced the system of breeding from a single breed shortly after the middle of the Eighteenth century. It was based upon careful selection to develop certain desirable qualities. The crossing of different breeds had previously been thought to be the way to improvement.

Early Bridal Bouquets

Bridal bouquets go back to the three wheat-ears held in the right hand of Roman brides, as a symbol of plentitude.

Many Stitches in Man's Suit

A man's well-made suit contains over 74,000 stitches, of which about half are made by hand.

DIGGERS BUSY ON ROAD WORK

NILES—Although no additional men have been put on the highway job during the past week, Eaton & Smith, contractors, are making rapid strides toward construction of the underpass on Vallejo street.

Diggers have started work on the big cut which will take motor traffic beneath the railroad tracks and by Wednesday night had completed a gash several hundred feet long just east of the tracks.

Dirt from the cut is being used to construct a temporary highway over which vehicles will detour while the actual underpass work is under way.

Additional crews of men are expected to be on the job within a few days.
